About Graduate Student Affiliation

- ❖ Students who are matriculated as psychology graduate students in a regionally accredited college or university, and interns or post-doctoral fellows may apply for Student Affiliation. (To ensure your eligibility for membership, it is suggested that Graduate students enrolled in an online university program check with the status of your university's regional accreditation.
- ❖ Graduate Student members of the Association shall be engaged primarily in the study of the scientific and professional discipline of psychology.
- ❖ Graduate Student Members shall be enrolled in a graduate program that is primarily psychological in content.
- ❖ Graduate Student Members do not have the right to vote and shall not hold elective office in MPA except as otherwise specified. A voting MPAGS representative is on the MPA Board of Directors.
- ❖ Graduate Student Members of MPA are also members of the Maryland Psychological Association of Graduate Students (MPAGS). Student Affiliates pay significantly lower dues than MPA members.

Student Affiliate Application

The Maryland Psychological Association is the only association in Maryland that provides advocacy for psychologists in the health care arena. However, our influence is only as great as our membership is strong.

In affiliating with the Maryland Psychological Association (MPA) and the Maryland Psychological Association Graduate Students (MPAGS), you add your strength, ideas, and funds to the cause of moving psychology forward in today's society.

Your MPAGS membership supports the profession of psychology through:

- Actively representing psychologists' interests to insurance and managed care companies.
- Formulating and monitoring state legislation affecting psychology in the Maryland General Assembly.
- Lobbying the state legislature on psychology's behalf.
- Encouraging psychologist participation in the community—from providing pro bono services to participating on state policy-making boards.
- Providing member consultation on ethical and practice issues.
- Supporting student research.
- Affiliation with APA and its nationwide programs.
- Promoting the profession of psychology to the public.
- Monitoring and negotiating with state regulatory agencies.

Your MPAGS membership benefits you through:

- Opportunity to join legislative advocacy regarding managed care, health care financing, medical records, mental health issues and scope of practice.
- Unique educational opportunities geared for graduate students, including annual Internship Fair.
- Telephone and e-mail access to MPA staff and Professional Affairs Officer, Colleague Assistance and Ethics Consultant.
- E-mail updates on MPA activities.
- Participation in the MPAGS and MPA general listservs for communication and discussion.
- Public information program to bring attention to psychology and psychologists.
- MPAGS monthly e-newsletter, online subscription to the quarterly MPA magazine, The Maryland Psychologist with opportunities to publish in either periodical.
- ½ the MPA member registration rate for outstanding continuing education programs through the year including those at the MPA Annual Convention and the Multicultural Conference.
- Professional networking through participation in MPA Board, committee, and event activities as well as MPAGS representation on the MPA Board of Directors.
- Membership in the Securityplus Credit Union.
- Members-only access to MPA website at www.marylandpsychology.org: online membership directory, numerous practice documents.
